

OFICIAL PRESS RELEASE

Porto hosts European developers meeting

DjangoCon Europe 2022 brings together hundreds of developers from around the world in the city of Porto in September

- First time Portugal hosts the successful initiative in-person
- Portuguese technological company was selected as organizer
- Over five hundred participants from all over the world are expected

Porto, August 22, 2022

The 14th edition of the renowned European technology conference DjangoCon Europe will take place in-person for the first time in Portugal, in the city of Porto. The organization of the 2022 edition has been handed over to Portuguese technology company Ad Evolutio.

For four days, from 21 to 24 September, the event will host hundreds of participants from the international tech community at the Super Bock Arena. The organizers of DjangoCon Europe 2022 guarantee a complete experience for attendees, with access to renowned speakers from the four corners of the world.

Founded in 2009, DjangoCon Europe's previous editions were held in cities like Copenhagen, Berlin, Amsterdam, Florence, Budapest, Zurich, among others. Due to COVID19 containment measures, the 2020 and 2021 editions were virtual, streamed from Porto by Ad Evolutio. The success of the organization of these editions was such that this year's in-person edition was once again organized by Ad Evolutio.

According to Ad Evolutio, Portugal assumes a prominent role as a preferred destination for global events in technology and computing.
